USEFUL INFORMATION

How do I check if my coach is qualified and accredited?

You can check if a coach has a LTA accreditation by using the 'Find a Coach' search on the LTA website, only accredited coaches appear on this search. You can also ask to see copies of their qualification and accreditation certificates.

What should you expect from a quality coaching session?

You should check that the session is well structured. Here are some things to look for:

- Warm up
- Competitive warm up and evaluation
- Clear teaching point, demonstration and practice
- Progression of the teaching point to include demonstration and practice
- Competition playing the game
- Cool down
- Reinforcement of the teaching point and set aims for next lesson

How much should a coach charge?

The amount a coach charges for a lesson will depend on a number of factors.

- Qualification you should ask what level of qualification they have
- Experience you should ask what their experience is in general and specifically within the area that you want to use them
- Location of the lesson costs will vary depending on your location
- Facility Fee the coach may pay a court fee in many venues, is this included in the lesson cost?
- Length of the lesson this will vary depending on the person/people being coached
- Number of players in the lesson will have an impact on the cost per person
- Number of lessons you book may have an impact on the cost

How many players in a lesson?

Coaches should be committed to attaining recommended coach/player ratios:

Development groups

4/5 years 1:4

6-10 years 1:8

11+ years 1:12

Performance groupsAll ages 1:4 – 1:6

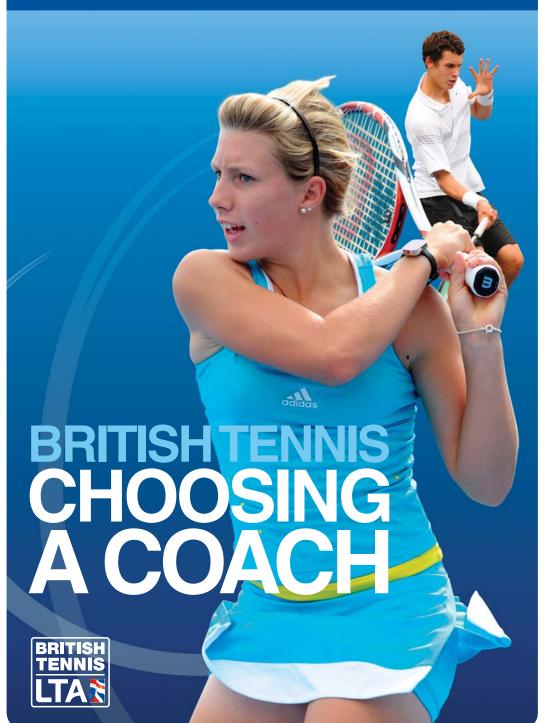

If your facility would like to achieve Clubmark status then you must use Licensed coaches. Restricted places to play without floodlights can use a Registered Coach (minimum Level 2 Coaching Assistant) to lead their programme, as long as the person has completed the e-learning module on 'structuring programmes'. A registered coach would also be expected to add personal development through CPD or qualification upgrade within the action plan. An emphasis on linking with other facilities to enable an 'all year round' programme should also feature heavily in the action plan.

BRITISH TENNIS WHAT TO LOOK FOR IN A COACH

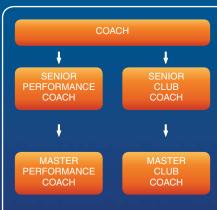

BRITISH TENNIS WHAT TO LOOK FOR IN A COACH

(1) QUALIFICATION

A qualification represents the level of training a coach has received and the level of skill to which she/he has been assessed. The LTA's current system of qualifications is shown below.

LEVEL 1: COACHING ASSISTANT
Can work on court with a qualified coach

LEVEL 2: COACHING ASSISTANT
Can work on own with groups of beginners

Fully Qualified Coaches are eligible for a Coach Licence

Senior Coaches are qualified to work in senior positions in Clubs and Performance Centres. The Senior Club Qualification prepares coaches with the broad range of skills required to work in club tennis, including Under 10 Performance. The Senior Performance Qualification is for coaches who are working or who aspire to work fulltime in Performance coaching

Master Coaches are qualified to work in high level positions in British Tennis. The Master Club Qualification concentrates on developing programmes and management skills as well as coaching all levels within a club. The Master Performance Qualification is for coaches who aspire to work at all levels up to and including the profession tour

The qualifications shown here were launched by the LTA in 2009 and are not exhaustive. There are other organisations that provide tennis coaching qualifications and other valid qualifications that have been offered by the LTA in the past. Visit www.LTA.org.uk/coaches for further info on other qualifications that are not listed here.

LTA accreditation includes regular CRB checks, first aid training, full insurance and a commitment to the LTA's code of conduct. ALL LTA Accredited coaches & coaching assistants are committed to meeting minimum standards for safety and ethics.

Look for two types of LTA accreditation:

1. Registration:

- Basic accreditation for coaches and coaching assistants
- Committed to minimum standards for safety and othics

2. Licensing:

- Only available to fully qualified coaches
- Requires an extra commitment to regular training
- The best choice for quality, up-to-date coaching

Remember to check that accreditation is valid,

Coaches all have different areas of expertise. Look at your coach's recent experience to see if it fits with what you're looking for.

Some key questions to ask your coach:

- Have you coached someone in the same age group?
- · Do you offer a complete tennis programme including individual, group and competitive opportunities?
- Do you offer assistance in getting a rating?
- Do you encourage your players to compete and help plan competition schedules?
- Do you help develop young coaches?
- Have you managed a programme before?
- Can you provide some references and a CV?
- Is there a chance to observe one of your coaching sessions?
